

Joyce Connery has been appointed chair of the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board (DNFSB) by President Biden. Connery has been a member of the board since August 2015. She was reconfirmed by the Senate to serve on the DNFSB on July 2, 2020, for a term expiring on October 18, 2024. Connery previously held the chairmanship from August 2015 until January 2017.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has named Andrea D. Veil acting director of its Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation (NRR). She replaces Ho

Nieh, who left the position in January. Veil joined the agency as an intern in 1992, holding increasingly responsible positions in various offices. In 2019, she was appointed the NRR deputy office director, and later that year, she was appointed deputy office director for engineering at NRR, her most recent position.
